INTRODUCING THE PEC NETWORK

Mailing addresses of the Peace Education Commission
(Group C)

Editor:
Åke Bjerstedt

The Peace Education Commission (PEC) was established to facilitate international cooperation among individuals interested in peace education and research related to peace education. It operates via a Council and an Executive Secretary (at present located in Sweden). The main ambition of PEC is to serve as a useful network for transnational information and support in the peace education area. Two instruments are basic in such network activities: a newsletter service and an up-to-date address list. The present miniprint gives current mailing addresses for a core group of members (mostly those who have recently checked and corrected their mailing addresses and who have been willing to have their addresses made public in such a list).

INTRODUCTION

The purpose of The International Peace Research Association (IPRA) is to advance interdisciplinary research into the conditions of peace and the causes of war and other forms of violence. IPRA has a number of working groups or commissions that form around important peace-related issues, such as Peace Movements or Women and Peace.

The Peace Education Commission (PEC) is IPRA's oldest specialized body. It was established to facilitate international cooperation among individuals interested in peace education and research related to peace education. It defines peace education in a broad way to include both explicit peace education (dealing for example with facts from peace research) and implicit peace education (dealing among other things with how to educate a new generation to acquire peaceful values and attitudes). PEC has also dealt with peace education at various educational levels (preschool, compulsory school, secondary school, higher education) as well as in the non-formal sector (making the everyday world the classroom).

PEC is semi-independent of IPRA. We recommend that PEC members also be members of IPRA, but according to tradition in this group, non-IPRA peace educators are also accepted in the PEC network.

PEC operates via a Council (see list of Council members below) and an Executive Secretary (at present located at the Malmö School of Education in Sweden). The main ambition of PEC is to serve as a useful network for transnational information and support in the peace education area. Two instruments are basic in such network activities: a newsletter service and an up-to-date address list.

At present, PEC works with two types of newsletter: (a) brief and plain "mini-newsletters" (just a couple of pages for quick communication); and (b) more "journal-like" newsletters - under the heading "Peace, Environment and Education" - with room for more detailed information and expression of views.

During recent months all individuals and organizations listed in earlier mailing lists have been contacted by mail. Among other things, each letter addressee was asked to check the address, correcting any possible errors and giving an alternative address, if he or she preferred another one.

In the present Peace Education Miniprint we publish chiefly mailing addresses for those in our network who have responded up to the middle of October, 1990, and who have been willing to have their addresses made public in such a list to other network members.

These are only some of the addresses that our PEC office has in its files. There may be several reasons that some of our letters have not been answered so far, including that our letters have been lost in the mail or that the addressees have not had time to answer so far. We will probably be able, later on, to publish a more extensive set of addresses.

We used the label "Group C" in the title of this miniprint: This stands for a "core" group of people who have reacted promptly to our request and who will therefore also be more likely than others to answer promptly to your letters! It might be added that we have included some addresses that we have not been able to check in the same way, but where we have reason to believe that they are correct. The mailing list in our PEC office also contains a number of institutes and organizations. These have been excluded from the present list, however.

My hope is that this address list will serve our members well, making it easier to take direct, personal contact with others in our network. It you spot any remaining errors in the list (or if addresses are changed later on), please let me know.
